ABOUT REDWOOD CITY / SAN CARLOS

REDWOOD CITY

The City of Redwood City is a San Francisco Bay Area community located in the heart of Silicon Valley - the technology rich region extending from the San Francisco Peninsula to the foothills of the Santa Cruz Mountains. Redwood City is the third largest city within the County of San Mateo with over 85,000 residents, and enjoys an average of 255 sunny days a year, which it boasts via the city slogan: "Climate Best by Government Test".

Incorporated in 1867, Redwood City is home to the San Mateo County History Museum (located in the county's old courthouse) and has the only active deep water port within the south bay of San Francisco. Known as the entertainment hub of the San Francisco Peninsula, the City's vibrant downtown offers residents, visitors, and businesses a unique retail, entertainment, and restaurant experience.

Redwood City is the center of all it all in more ways than one. Home to world-class firms like Oracle, Electronic Arts, Box, Shutterfly, Kaiser Permanente, Stanford University Health, and to more than 500 new start-ups, Redwood City is known for being business friendly.

Whether you are looking to expand your business or visit one of our exciting downtown restaurants, Redwood City is the place to be. For more information, visit the City of Redwood City's website at www.redwoodcity.org.

SAN CARLOS

Known as the “City of Good Living,” San Carlos has much to offer residents and visitors alike. A community spirit, a small-town feel, and excellent schools make it an ideal location for families and businesses. Just 25 miles south from San Francisco and San Jose to its south, our community is in the northern part of Silicon Valley. It is served by both the San Francisco and San Jose International Airports, while also being home to an airport of its own.

San Carlos is a truly dynamic mid-Peninsula city with a healthy business climate, a broad-based economy, strong employment and tax bases, and quality city services. Successful businesses, along with well-maintained streets and parks, quality police and fire protection, and high property values benefit those who visit San Carlos, as well as the over 30,000 residents and over 3,000 businesses that call San Carlos home.

San Carlos hosts numerous service clubs and non-profit organizations and can boast a population dedicated to volunteerism. San Carlos attracts many for its proximity to three big cities, its lovely neighborhoods, a charming downtown, a growing commercial/industrial area, and a variety of parks and recreational activities.

Biotech

San Carlos is becoming the location of choice for biotech developments in the Bay Area and for good reason. We are located mid-way between San Francisco and San Jose in the heart of Silicon Valley. Train service is available for commuters and 101 Freeway is only a few blocks away. We are family friendly with highly ranked schools, pleasant suburban-style residential neighborhoods, and a vibrant downtown known for fine restaurants. Most importantly, we have property in our industrial area that is ready to transition from older industrial uses to high science, which attracts the best and the brightest.

PORT OF REDWOOD CITY

WATERFRONT DESTINATION FOR JOBS & RECREATION

It is the only deepwater port in South San Francisco Bay, providing berths for dry bulk, liquid bulk, and project cargoes, along with unparalleled recreational opportunities and access to San Francisco Bay. The Port is one of 11 ports in California and among the 100 U.S. ports delivering prosperity.

According to the U.S. Commerce Department, U.S. ports and our marine transportation system – and the hardworking men and women behind these operations – are essential drivers of the American economy. Every day, our ports and waterways handle millions of tons of domestic and international cargo, including food and agricultural products, building materials, petrochemicals, and automobiles.

Ports like Redwood City play another critical role in communities as well. They serve as local economic engines, generating jobs and opportunities that allow businesses to flourish. The Port of Redwood City specializes in bulk and neo-bulk cargoes and is one of California's leading recycling ports. Building materials imported through the Port have contributed significantly to the development of Redwood City and Silicon Valley. About 1.7 million metric tons of cargo carried by ships and barges move across the Port's docks each year, including exported recycled metal to the Far East.

The Port is an enterprise department of the City of Redwood City, wholly supported by its own operating revenue and receives no tax dollars. The Port returns a portion of its earnings each year to the City's general fund.

Port goals align with the City of Redwood City's Strategic Initiatives including Economic Development, Transportation, Community Building and Government Operations. In addition, the Port recently released the 2020 Vision Plan, a 25-year agenda-setting document to guide the future of the Port. Vickerman and Associates helped lead the organization through a strategic visioning process to develop long-term goals and short-term priorities for Port operations.

Port businesses create jobs and tax dollars for our local communities.

- Port and port area businesses employ more than 4,300 people in blue-collar jobs and generate $4.5 million in state and local taxes each year.
- The 14 Seaport Industrial Association businesses collectively generate $600,000 in sales tax annual for the City of Redwood City and another $3.5 million for the State each year.

The Port's industries and businesses are diverse. See a full listing at www.redwoodcityport.com.
